for — Powerful Intention

BRAND STRATEGY

OVERVIEW

for — Powerful Intention

A solid brand strategy helps you articulate your core identity (a.k.a. your vision, mission, and values) and, most importantly, communicate it. This is crucial in your journey to attract and retain the people you want to reach while staying authentic.

Differentiates — The clarity gained can be used as a resource to understand how your brand stands out.

Defines Your People — This document will help define your ideal client so you know who you're speaking to.

Backs Up Your Design — I will take these ideas about your brand and use that information to determine your visuals. Because we have used psychology, that means your visuals are working for you.

THE INTRODUCTION

Powerful Intention offers tools to help you reconnect with yourself and your energy. Blending ancient wisdom with modern design, our products invite you to slow down and return to yourself without needing to know all the ‘right’ words or follow a rigid path. From lighting a candle to pulling a card, our ritual kits, oracle decks, and sacred jewelry are here to support the meaningful moments that bring you back to center.

THE NAME

The name Powerful Intention came from the belief that healing doesn’t have to be big or dramatic to have impact. Sometimes, it’s quiet. Gentle. A small, sacred pause in the middle of your day. Lighting a candle. Putting on a bracelet. Whispering a truth to yourself. When something is done with intention, even the smallest act can become a turning point, and that’s what this space is here to support.

COMPETITOR LANDSCAPE

AT A GLANCE:

BRAND	CORE FOCUS	STRENGTHS	LIMITATIONS
SPIRIT DAUGHTER	Astrology workbooks + digital tools	Cohesive experience, modern rituals, community	Heavier emphasis on education over tangible gifts
TINY RITUALS	Crystal jewelry	SEO-led traffic (rare for your competitors), affordable spiritual items	Limited experiential branding, feels a bit basic in product and maybe even more ‘whimsical’ than ‘grown’
KARMA & LUCK	Premium crystal jewelry	Elevated aesthetic, collectible designs, feels high-end and like an experience	Less focus on educational/spiritual guidance
ENERGY MUSE	Healing tools + crystals	Copy is on-brand and distinct	Minimal lifestyle storytelling, feels a bit ‘techy’ - brand is ying yang symbol, but could be confused with a more tech brand
HOUSE OF INTUITION	Brick-and-mortar + online metaphysical retail	Engaging, colorful vibe	Visually cluttered, less premium feel, no customer
PARIGOTTE HOLISTIC	Herbal rituals, apothecary goods	Strong visuals, sensory + herbal storytelling, SEO focus on site for search	Focused on herbs; less jewelry or seasonal tools
MINDFUL SOULS	General spiritual retail	Variety of products	Inconsistent branding; less curated, feels messy

THE MARKET

The wellness economy is booming. In 2023, the global wellness market hit $6.3 trillion, accounting for over 6% of global GDP, with projections to grow to nearly $9 trillion by 2028 [Global Wellness Institute]. In the United States alone, wellness now represents a $2 trillion economy, roughly one-third of the global market, with wellness spending averaging over $6,000 per person annually [PR Newswire].

Within that, the body-mind-energy healing market, which includes crystals, spiritual services, ritual tools, and mind-body practices, was valued at approximately $78.6 billion in 2023 and is projected to nearly quintuple to $394.7 billion by 2030, growing at an impressive 26% CAGR. [Grand View Research, Precedence Reseach Center].

This growth reflects increasing mainstream acceptance of holistic healing, meditation, energy work, and spiritual self-care, a clear opportunity for a brand like Powerful Intention that sits at the intersection of ritual, aesthetics, and wellness.

KEY DIFFERENTIATORS

Grounded Voice, Not Guru Vibes

Unlike brands that lean mystical, preachy, or overly polished, Powerful Intention speaks like a wise, warm friend. No perfection, no pressure—just tools for the everyday spiritual woman.

Emotional Depth + Psychological Insight

While most competitors focus on astrology, crystals, or high-level “good vibes,” Powerful Intention uniquely blends psychology (think: archetypes, shadow work) with spiritual practice, creating products that guide emotional self-awareness and energetic alignment.

Soft, Elevated Aesthetic Without Visual Overload

Compared to visually chaotic or overly chakra-colored sites, Powerful Intention brings an aesthetic that’s soft, elevated, and soulful: like Free People meets sacred design. It feels like a calming exhale.

Sacred Experience All the Way Through Product Fulfillment

While most e-commerce brands focus on speed and volume, every Powerful Intention order is energetically cleansed and intentionally packaged. This way it’s received as a gift or for yourself with an intention all the way through.

Honor Ancient Wisdom Without Appropriation

Many brands borrow spiritual practices without clarity or cultural context. Powerful Intention is rooted in sacred appreciation, not appropriation, with a clear effort to name sources, honor origins, and demystify practices without watering them down. (A quiet edge over many mass-market spiritual retailers.)

Designed for the Spiritually Curious, Not the Expert

Some competitors assume the shopper already “speaks the language” of spirituality. Powerful Intention gently invites in those who are new, skeptical, or scared to ‘get it wrong’. It’s approachable and affirming, especially for women just beginning their journey.

Products Created as Rituals

Instead of simply offering items for ritual, every Powerful Intention product comes with its own ritual guide or practice. Each item has been energetically and emotionally prepared for the intentional moment - which is how you can bring in the lifestyle element of the brand through to your marketing with more ease.

YOUR AUDIENCE

TO BE USED FOR:

- + Who you reach
- + How you reach them
- + Positioning
- + Alignment with your own identity

WHERE ARE YOUR CUSTOMERS?

LOCATION

Primarily U.S.-based, emerging from urban and upscale neighborhoods, especially in Pacific Northwest cities like Portland and Seattle, and cultural hubs like Los Angeles, New York, and Austin.

Secondary markets include Canada, the UK, and Western Europe, particularly in creative and wellness-driven communities.

WHO ARE YOUR CUSTOMERS?

Based on Experian's Mosaic segmentation, customers most often fall into these U.S. lifestyle clusters-uses data from purchases and census to clearly understand demographics and psychographics):

- Young City Solos (Group G24–G25): Well-educated millennials and Gen X singles or young professionals living in urban areas. Independent, culturally engaged, and open to spiritual or mindful experiences.
- Bohemian Groove (K37): Creatively inclined, spiritually open individuals who enjoy unique experiences, artisan goods, and conscious living. They typically value authenticity and self-expression.
- Progressive Assortment (H26–H27): Diverse, socially conscious households in metropolitan areas who prioritize health, sustainability, and intentional living.

Gender

Predominantly female (~80–90%), with increasing interest from male spiritual seekers (especially around astrology and energy tools, but this is not the primary market).

Age

Core demographic ranges late 20s to early 50s (primarily Millennials, with younger Gen X and some aspirational Gen Z), aligning with Mosaic Group G and K.

Occupation & Education

- High percentages of creatives, wellness professionals (coaches, energy healers, yoga instructors), therapists, freelance professionals, and educators.
- Most hold bachelor's degrees or higher, consistent with Mosaic segments that correlate with cultural engagement and disposable income.

Socioeconomic Status

- Typically middle to upper-middle income households ($50K–$150K+).
- Willing to spend in premium spiritual and lifestyle brands, sustainable goods, and artisanal tools aligned with their values. Willing to spend on gifts in these arenas.

Brand Overlaps & Shopping Habits

- Likely customers shop or align with:
 - Free People, Anthropologie, Lotus & Luna, Goddess Provisions, Whole Foods, Erewhon, and curated wellness boutiques.
 - Etsy for elevated, intentional spiritual goods.
 - Frequent yoga studios, creative pop-ups, and spiritual-centered events (retreats, mindful meditations activations etc).

THE CUSTOMER PSYCHOGRAPHICS

Based on Mosaic + Brand Insights

HOW THEY SPEND THEIR DAYS:

- Young City Solos (G24–G25) are often in their 30s or 40s, living in cities like Portland, LA, Austin, or Brooklyn. Their days are shaped by freelance or creative work: brand consulting, content creation, therapy, yoga instruction, or design. They start slow with a journal, tea, or a pull from their favorite deck, then toggle between productivity and presence. Evenings might include a candlelit bath, a sound bath session, or dinner with friends who get it.
- Bohemian Groove (K37) tend to live in eclectic neighborhoods or smaller towns with thriving arts scenes (i.e. Sedona, Boulder, Missoula). They're more mature (40s–50s), often single or divorced, and live intentionally. They spend time reading spiritual books, volunteering, or curating their homes like sacred spaces.
- Progressive Assortment (H26–H27) blend wellness with activism. Their time goes to parenting, coaching, energy work, running nonprofits/volunteering at the PTA, or attending healing circles. Their schedules flex for meaning (and money) and they value time for breathwork, rituals, and rest

VALUES:

- + Authenticity over performance – They don't want flashy spirituality. They want tools that feel grounded and approachable.
- + Emotional self-awareness – These women are doing “the work.” They crave products and practices that support inner healing, not only outer wellness.
- + Creativity and self-expression – They choose brands that feel like art. Packaging, color, and sensory detail matter to them.
- + Cultural respect and spiritual integrity – They pay attention to sourcing and language. Appropriation is a dealbreaker.
- + Slow living, small rituals – Lighting a candle before emails, pulling a card when unsure, pausing for breath instead of burnout.
- + Connection—to self, to spirit, to something bigger – They want to feel held, not told what to do.

Based on Mosaic + Brand Insights

INTERESTS:

- + Jungian psychology, archetypes, shadow work
- + Sound healing, intuitive movement, reiki, astrology
- + Clean skincare, artisan jewelry, sacred textiles
- + Pinterest and Instagram for visual inspiration
- + Podcasts like Expanded, Almost 30, and We Can Do Hard Things
- + Boutique shops, farmer's markets, yoga studios, moon circles
- + Intuitive spirituality: pulling cards, writing intentions, using scent and texture in rituals

PERSONALITY TRAITS:

- + Sensitive and intuitive – They feel deeply and often carry the emotional load for others.
- + Creative and curious – Lifelong learners who read, research, and reinvent themselves with each cycle.
- + Soft but strong – Their power doesn't come from volume; it comes from depth, integrity, and presence.
- + Discerning but open – They're always exploring, but not blindly following. They like to know the why before they commit.
- + Grounded mystics – They believe in energy, but also in emotional work. They're spiritual and skeptical, poetic and practical.

BUYER TYPES

There are 4 primary buyer types, and it’s important for product based brands to clearly lay these out following the psychographics.

MOSAIC SEGMENT	PRIMARY BUYER TYPE	BRAND APPROACH
YOUNG CITY SOLOS (G24–25)	Analytical & Expressive	Provide detailed guides AND aesthetic storytelling paired with emotional brand connection
BOHEMIAN GROOVE (K37)	Expressive & Amiable	Lean into heartfelt storytelling, artisan authenticity, and deep relational language.
PROGRESSIVE ASSORTMENT (H26–27)	Driver & Amiable	Highlight alignment with values, efficiency of tools, ethical sourcing, and caring brand experience.

BUYER TYPES

1. ANALYTICAL BUYER (DATA-DRIVEN DECISION-MAKER)

- Who they may align with: Young City Solos who research intentions and want thoughtful products.
- What appeals to them: Clear product details, evidence of value, transparent sourcing, psychology-grounded design.
- Content they respond to: FAQs, product ingredient breakdowns, lineage of spiritual traditions, shadow-work approach, step-by-step use guides.
- Messaging tip: “Here’s what goes into our Within Deck, why we chose this crystal for ritual kits, and how it supports emotional clarity.”

2. EXPRESSIVE BUYER (EMOTIONALLY MOTIVATED CONNECTOR)

- Who they may align with: Bohemian Groove creatives and Progressive Assortment (majority of buyers)
- What appeals to them: Stories of epiphany, emotional resonance, meaningful gift moments, designer aesthetic.
- Content they respond to: Founder's journey, community testimonials, unboxing moments, creative visuals.
- Messaging example on a blog: “Healing doesn’t need to be loud, here’s how one woman found presence in ritual with our grounding kit.”

3. DRIVER / ASSERTIVE BUYER (GOAL-ORIENTED, DECISIVE)

- Who they may align with: Progressive Assortment who want purpose-aligned impact and simplicity.
- What appeals to them: Efficiency, clarity, verifiable transformation, multi-use tools that save time.
- Content they respond to: Quick comparisons (“Chakra Kit vs Moon Kit”), outcome-based headlines, streamlined offers.
- Messaging tip: “The Home Cleansing Kit saves you ritual prep time while clearing space energetically—it includes sage, candle, matches, and guidance in one box.”

4. AMIABLE BUYER (RELATIONSHIP-FOCUSED, LOYAL)

- Who they may align with: Empathetic souls across all three Mosaic groups, especially Progressive Assortment wanting community and connection.
- What appeals to them: Trust, relational tone, clear care in packaging, responsive customer service, inclusivity.
- Content they respond to: Personal notes in shipments, heartfelt customer reviews, accessible onboarding rituals, community stories.
- Messaging tip: “Every order includes a handwritten intention card and cleansing ritual affirmation, you’re welcomed, held, and seen.”

Persona No.1

“The Self-Aware Seeker”

Mosaic Segment: Young City Solos (G24–G25) | Buyer Type: Analytical + Expressive

Maya has been on a healing journey since a burnout spiral in her late 20s. Therapy helped her understand her patterns, but she still feels disconnected—like something deeper is missing. She spends hours on Pinterest curating calming aesthetics and recently started exploring astrology and shadow work. One night, she saw a post about the Archetype Within Deck on Instagram. It seemed like the perfect way to take the next intentional step in her life. Curious, she ordered it (along with the Moon Ritual Kit for her friend!).

The deck gave her the language she didn’t know she needed. The moon kit was so enjoyed by her friend. Now, she starts her week by pulling a card and lighting a candle. She feels more centered, not because she “fixed” herself, but because she found a tool that spoke to her in a way she could understand.

Persona No.2

“The Sacred Creative”

Mosaic Segment: Bohemian Groove (K37) | Buyer Type: Expressive + Amiable

Celeste lives in a tiny lavender-painted bungalow filled with textiles, plants, and art supplies. After a divorce and a long chapter of caretaking with her mother, she’s reclaimed her life through slow mornings and sacred practices. Still, she struggles with feeling scattered, pulled between creativity and healing, longing for grounding tools that don’t feel performative.

While scrolling Pinterest she stumbled upon Powerful Intention and clicked through. The packaging was beautiful. The language felt real. She ordered the Grounding Kit and later, a ritual bracelet. Now, she starts each morning by holding her smoky quartz, sipping tea, and pulling a card. She keeps the ritual card on her altar. “This feels like a love letter to the part of me I forgot,” she told a friend.

“The Conscious Caregiver”

Mosaic Segment: Progressive Assortment (H26–H27) | Buyer Type: Driver + Amiable

Jasmine wears a lot of hats: coach, mom, partner, retreat facilitator. Her calendar is full, but her soul often feels like an afterthought. She’s done a lot of “inner work” and therapy but craves something tangible that brings her back to herself in the middle of a packed day.

A colleague gifted her the Chakra Healing Kit at a women’s retreat, and something about the ritual card felt like permission to pause. She visited the site and loved how everything was curated but simple. No overthinking. Since then, she’s subscribed to the newsletter, gifted two Moon Kits to clients, and wears her rose quartz bracelet on days she knows will stretch her heart. It’s her invisible reset button.

BRAND TRANSFORMATION STORY

DESIRE:

I want to feel more connected to myself and live with deeper meaning.

The customer is craving something beyond productivity and surface-level self-care. She's looking for small, sacred moments that bring her back to herself, without pressure, performance, or perfection.

EXTERNAL (NEEDS/WANTS...)

"I want tools that help me feel grounded"

"I want beautiful jewelry that is also supportive."

"I want something meaningful to tie into my spiritual / crystal curiosity."

"I need an easy place to start with spiritual/ritual items."

She's looking for spiritual products like kits, decks, jewelry, maybe even apparel—but what she's really buying is a sense of intention in her daily life.

INTERNAL (FEELINGS):

"I feel overwhelmed, untethered, or unsure where to begin. I want something gentle, beautiful, and real to help me reconnect."

There's often low-grade burnout, emotional fatigue, or confusion about how to practice spirituality without feeling like an imposter.

PHILOSOPHICAL BELIEF (WHAT'S AT STAKE IN THE BIGGER PICTURE)

"Everyone deserves to feel connected and whole."

Powerful Intention exists to offer the spiritually curious modern woman beautiful, intentional tools rooted in reverence and practicality so they can reconnect with themselves in ways that feel authentic.

BRAND VOICE

The voice of Powerful Intention is warm like Brené Brown, emotionally honest like Chani Nicholas. It blends grounded psychology with modern mysticism: imagine if Glennon Doyle wrote you a ritual card and Chani blessed it with astrology and ancestral reverence. It's not mystical for mysticism's sake—it's more like if you got life advice from a friend who just left a sound bath and also has a degree in psychology. It explains sacred things in accessible language, offering context without condescension, and beauty without pretense. This voice doesn't push or preach, it invites and meets you where you are. In tone, there's space here for the messy, the tender, the beginning-again. Every sentence is an offering to remind you that you're already whole.

Suggestion: Add a “Shop by Intention” feature:

This allows customers to browse products based on what they’re seeking support with. For example, Tala uses “Shop by Activity” for different types of movement from coffee dates to yoga for their athleisure. For Powerful Intention, this could look like:

- Grounding & Protection
- Energy Clearing
- Self-Love & Confidence
- Inner Peace & Anxiety Relief
- Clarity & Intuition
- New Beginnings & Life Transitions
- Shadow Work & Inner Healing
- Heart Healing & Grief Support
- Creativity & Expression
- Sleep & Rest Rituals
- Joy & Expansion
- New Beginnings
- Release
- Love & Sensuality

This approach not only improves navigation, it deepens the emotional resonance. It meets the customer where they are and offers a clear pathway into your product ecosystem without them needing to know what category a deck or kit falls under. It mirrors the way people feel when shopping for spiritual tools: they’re not looking for “candles” or “crystals” all the time or may not know what the crystals do.

SHOWING EMPATHY

Showing empathy is a cornerstone for any brand. It's essential to let clients know you know where they are at. Here are a few ways you can do this as a brand. You can use these as the start of a social post, email campaign or on your website.

- We see how easy it is to forget yourself in the chaos of everyday life.
- We know what it's like to give everything to others and still feel disconnected.
- You ought to have moments that are just for you.
- You deserve a sacred pause that brings you back home to yourself.
- We've felt how performative and overwhelming spirituality can sometimes feel.
- We know what it's like to crave ritual without wanting to perform it for anyone else.
- You ought to have tools that feel approachable, not intimidating.
- You deserve to explore your own healing in a way that feels safe and simple.
- We understand that healing isn't always loud or dramatic, it's often quiet and personal.
- We know what it's like to light a candle and hope that's enough.
- You ought to have rituals that meet you in the middle of your real life.
- We've stood in those moments of burnout, numbness, and not knowing what comes next.
- We know what it's like to want more meaning, but feel unsure where to begin.
- You ought to have gentle support to reconnect with your spirit.
- You deserve healing that honors where you are, not who you think you should be.
- We see how much emotional labor you carry, sometimes without anyone noticing.
- We remember what it's like to feel curious about crystals, energy, and ritual, but unsure where to start.
- We know what it's like to feel like you're on the outside of something sacred.
- You ought to have access to tools that don't require a rulebook to matter.
- We've been in the space between doing the work and still feeling like we're circling back again.
- We know what it's like to forget, begin again, and need something that holds space for both.
- You ought to have rituals that honor the restart, not just the beginning.
- You deserve to feel whole, even when you're still in the process.

SHOWING AUTHORITY

Building authority as a brand is crucial for establishing trust and credibility with potential clients. Here are a few key authority builders you can always come back to in your brand reach.

1. Get Listed in Aligned Directories & Marketplaces

- Join curated wellness, spiritual, and gift-focused directories like The Good Trade, WellSet, Faire (for wholesale), or Women-Owned Business directories (to help promote DTC).
- This builds third-party credibility and helps more spiritually curious customers discover the brand.

PLUS: Create a “Featured In” or “As Seen In” strip on the homepage once listings or press accumulate! I will help!

2. Earn Press in Wellness, Lifestyle, and Spiritual Publications

- Pitch to outlets like MindBodyGreen, Well+Good, The Chalkboard Mag, Conscious Life News, and Spirituality & Health for gift guides, product features, or founder interviews.
- Use a brand-aligned story angle like: “How Small Rituals Are Changing the Self-Care Space.”

Pro Tip: Start with HARO/Qwoted or niche PR opportunities in the spiritual space.

3. Create Deep-Dive SEO Blogs That Educate + Connect

- Write blog posts like “How to Create a Morning Ritual That Actually Sticks,” “What Is Shadow Work (and Why You Don’t Need to Be an Expert to Start),” or “Chakra Healing Without the Overwhelm.”
- Focus on approachable, emotionally intelligent content that gently guides and demystifies, BUT make sure you have optimized for keywords people are actually searching for. Use a platform like SemRush. ChatGPT will not know keywords.
- This builds organic traffic and positions the brand as a thoughtful, grounded source.

4. Collaborate with Known Guides, Teachers, or Retreat Leaders

- Partner with aligned professionals like reiki healers, yoga teachers, spiritual coaches, or retreat facilitators to co-create kits, offer gifting options, or provide affiliate opportunities.
- Their endorsement = instant trust transfer from their audience to yours.

Pro Tip: Most retreats and events use Destination Management Company if they are hosting elsewhere- so connecting with them on LinkedIn is helpful (also called Brand Activation Managers). Secondly, you can look to have a booth at events like: Alt Summit Marketplace and Create and Cultivate.

5. Feature the Founder’s Expertise (Softly, Strategically)

- Anne’s background in psychology and her story are huge assets. Feature her insights in a blog series, email notes, or soft front-and-center intro on the About page.
- Create a “From Anne” email or seasonal reflection series where her voice shows up as guide.

YOUR IDENTITY

TO BE USED FOR:

- + Atmosphere & vibes
- + About page values
- + How you show up
- + How you profit

YOUR ARCHETYPES

Your brand archetypes are a way to dive deep into your unique brand personality. These are the foundations for how you show up in your business and what drives you and those you connect with. Use this as guidance as you build your brand.

THE HUMAN

The Connector. The Grounded Guide. The Real One.

The Human is authentic, relatable, and emotionally grounded. This archetype doesn't stand on a pedestal; instead, it sits next to you, holding space. This archetype leads with empathy, speaks in down to earth language, and values shared humanity over hierarchy. The superpower? Making you feel safe enough to begin.

CORE TRAITS:

Honest + Real
Approachable
Humble + friendly
Emotionally intelligent Inclusive

THE INNOCENT

The Optimist. The Truth-Seeker. The Keeper of Simplicity and Wholeness.

The Innocent archetype is driven by a desire to live in harmony, trust, and truth. It believes the world can be good, that healing is possible, and that coming back to simplicity can restore the soul. It brings hope, clarity, and gentleness into chaotic or overwhelming spaces, not by denying difficulty, but by holding a candle of belief that peace is within reach.

CORE TRAITS:

Gentle
Spiritually open
Optimistic
Curious
Simplicity-seeking

Together, The Human makes people feel safe, seen, and is like the neighbor next door (friendly, warm, approachable, real) while The Innocent (mystic) makes people feel soulful and spiritual, connecting to the products and transformation.

PRIMARY ARCHETYPE: THE HUMAN (EVERYWOMAN)

Core desire: To feel accepted and connected (the archetype of belonging)

Core goal: To build emotional safety through authenticity and shared experience

How This Serves Powerful Intention:

This is the voice and presence that says: “You don’t have to be an expert. You don’t need to do it all perfectly. You’re welcome here.” It guides women gently back to themselves without pressure, hype, or rules. It’s why the brand feels like a friend, not a guru.

How to Show It in the Brand

- Conversational tone
- Relatable content and founder stories
- Inclusive visuals and diverse representation
- Emphasis on emotional safety, not spiritual achievement
- Copy that removes shame or hierarchy from healing

SUPPORTING ARCHETYPE: THE INNOCENT

(WITH MYSTIC TENDENCIES AT ITS HIGHEST EXPRESSION)

Core desire: To feel whole and spiritually connected

Core goal: To create inner harmony through sacred simplicity decisions.

How This Serves Powerful Intention:

This archetype adds reverence and softness to the brand. It's why the products don't feel transactional; they feel sacred. It reminds customers that even a match strike or a breath can hold meaning.

How to Show It in the Brand:

- Calming design and photography (light, airy)
- Simple, sacred rituals included with products (simplicity is key in this archetype)
- Copy that evokes peace and inner clarity
- Language like “a quiet return to self,” “honoring” or “presence over perfection”
- Poetic micro-moments in the packaging and ritual cards

ALWAYS KEEP THESE BRAND PERSONALITY TRAITS IN MIND, AS THEY ARE THE CORNERSTONE OF YOUR BUSINESS

BRAND PROMISE

We believe your spiritual journey should feel like your own. Whether you're just starting out, beginning again, or simply looking for more meaning in your everyday routine, you deserve tools that meet you where you are.

We support that by creating thoughtful, beautiful products—like ritual kits, oracle decks, and sacred jewelry—rooted in respect for you, your energy, and the traditions that inspire them.

Because when intention is at the center, even the smallest moment can be sacred.

That's sacred made simple.

BRAND VALUES

THESE ARE THE VALUES THAT POINT YOUR BUSINESS IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION
TYPICALLY THEY APPEAR ON YOUR ABOUT PAGE AS WELL

1. DOWN-TO-EARTH OVER PERFECTION

We show up as we are and create products for people doing the same. Everything we make is built for real life—messy, meaningful, and always in progress.

2. INTENTIONAL BEAUTY

We care about the details because beauty can help you slow down and feel more connected. If it's in our shop, it's there for a reason, and it's designed to feel just as good as it looks.

3. KEEP IT SIMPLE, KEEP IT SACRED

You don't need a perfect setup or a two-hour ritual. A candle, a card pull, a breath - that's enough. Our tools are made to support whatever version of ritual works for you.

secondary logo

This is your secondary logo in a sample of the color versions that will be provided in your final package. You will receive all of your brand colors plus black and white.

It will work aesthetically in spaces with more horizontal space, where the Primary logo will not suffice OR where you have already used your primary logo and want versatility such as your footer or social media posts.

These marks are best centred.

icon

This is your icon in a sample of the color versions that will be provided in your final package.

An icon is an essential addition to your brand and can be used to symbolize your brand.

Most often icons are used on your website as your favicon and to infuse your branding throughout.

This should not be used as the sole indicator of your brand- always in conjunction with your branding materials, content, emails etc.

alternate

This is your alternate logos in a sample of the color versions that will be provided in your final package.

This is an extension of your brand and can be used on your website, on marketing collateral and in any instance where you want to infuse your branding throughout.

This should not be used on it's own as an identifier for the brand, another logo / variation should also be present where applicable.

A reminder, only use if you can read the text, if it is too small, then use the icon.

BEST PRACTICES

TO BE USED FOR:

- + Appearance & vibes
- + Graphics & Visuals
- + Brand Photos
- + Website

spacing + sizing

All branding elements should have plenty of “white space” (breathing room) around all sides. 25% of the element’s overall width is a good gauge. See the right side of this screen for an example. For sizing, you should go no smaller than when your tagline or icon become hard to read. If the tagline is hard to read, use the version without.

color combos

When using your brand color palette it is important to keep in mind which colors pair well together. Light marks on top of dark colors and vice versa.

You are looking for contrast, and with overall darker colors you will often use the white / light marks and vice versa. To the right you can see a sample of marks on different backgrounds. In general the lighter colors stand out on the darker colors and vice versa.

photography

Your brand elements can be used on top of photography. For dark photos, use a light color. For light photos, use a dark color.

You'll also want to ensure that

- 1) the background is dark or light enough for your brand element to remain visible and
- 2) that there's sufficient negative space for the brand element to fit and stand out.

file formats

AI and EPS files are vector based, which means you can scale them to any size and they will NOT pixelate.

JPG and PNG, on the other hand, DO become pixelated when they're scaled larger than their original size. They can be used for web or print, just be sure not to distort and watch for pixelation.

You will have the EPS, PNG, and AI files for your brand. You can create .jpg's in Canva.

FILE FORMAT	FILE USAGE	COLOR PROFILE	RESOLUTION	BACKGROUND
.AI	For Print	CMYK	Infinite (aka: vector)	Transparent
.EPS	For Print	CMYK	Infinite (aka: vector)	Transparent
.JPG ⁽¹⁾	For Print	CMYK	300	White
.JPG ⁽²⁾	For Web	RGB	144	White
.PNG	For Web & Print	RGB	44	Transparent
